Max Woerle - Builder

2012
Ontario Masters Athletics
Hall of Fame

It's one thing for an athlete to have a long, successful career, but it's also very impressive when an athlete gives back, sharing passion with others, and doing the necessary organizing that enables others to compete as well. Max Woerle has done just that, and so he has been nominated for the OMA Hall of Fame as both an athlete and a builder.

Max began his Masters athletic career in his 40s. The number of Canadian championship medals that he has won closely matches his age of 82 – a phenomenal achievement for his career of over 40 years! What is his specialty? Well, it's hard to say – he has competed in high jump (with 1 of his Canadian records lasting 15 years), short and long hurdles, triple jump, pole vault, pentathlon, and most recently and probably most successfully, in hammer, shot put, discus, weight throw and weight pentathlon.

But as a builder, Max has left a legacy to which many are indebted. He was the founding president of the Throwers Club, serving from 1998 to 2002. His work with the Club was instrumental in creating the strongest (no pun intended), and most active masters throwing club in Canada. His wife Renata has also been there to support both Max and OMA events.

We thank Max for his contributions to our sport and are pleased to induct him into the Ontario Masters Hall of Fame.
